CHARACTERISATION

The remains of medieval 'random-patterned' fields grouped around dispersed farmsteads at Hitcham, Suffolk, a distinctive feature of the East Anglian landscape alongside less common numerous fields and regularly planned 'coaxial' patterns of the same date. Regional character in East Anglia is being analysed by the Historic Field Systems of East Anglia project, building on previous Historic Landscape Characterisation work and Brian K Roberts and Stuart Wrathmell's An Atlas of Rural Settlement in England (English Heritage 2000).

ABOUT COMMITTEE

The aim of the Committee – consistent with ICOMOS' objective of international cooperation – is to explore the basis and framework of conservation, restoration and preservation theory and practice in the globalized world. With these developments in mind, the Committee hopes to achieve the ambitious goal of analyzing recent problems and suggesting appropriate proposals, perhaps even answers.
